

Hello!

My name is Dima, today I will comment a quotation about languages, made by Rita Mae Brown.

To start off, I will describe my personal opinion about ~~Brown~~ Miss Brown testament. I think her testament is true. Definitely, languages and dialects of all nations make a road through many years, this road shows qualities, history and traits of the native users. I will prove it.

~~For the~~ First reason to support consist of phrase: "Strengthened in unity!", like that. Second reason's trail goes from the first, but much bigger scale. It is fearsome enemy and closest friend for human culture and humanity itself, this thing is called: globalization. Now I will explain these reasons.

On first reason, in centuries (maybe even millennial) ago, the strongest nations and countries had one and only language that united people in country.

For the second, globalization itself destroys languages and dialects. Today, in Russian language among young people, they use so many "englishisms" that are scary to imagine, that is to be feared. But, around the world everyone follows the tendency to reduce words and text shorter, to match the pace of life nowadays. That is good, because people would understand each other faster and better.

2 ~ Making a conclusion I would say that after I proved Rita's statement, it doesn't seem so bold.
That's it for now.
